Plan 'International Night'

Following a veritable "League of Nations" meeting in the San Francisco city hall, which was attended by consuls and consuls-general of a dozen leading nations, plans were advanced this week for the celebration on August 26 of International Night, a spectacle of municipal entertainment that gives promise of outshining anything ever attempted in the colorful history of the Bay City. Shown above, pointing to "International Night," as written in their respective languages, are: left to right, standing, M. Shoue, China; A. S. Fordham, England; S. Manson, representative of the S. F. Junior Chamber of Commerce, and sitting, Fouad Abdallah, Egypt.

Howard's Market Burglary Is Still Mystery to Police

Police investigation, augmented by the sheriff's office and private detectives, will continue until all leads to the identity of three men who burglarized Howard's Market, corner of Portola avenue and Torrance boulevard, early Friday morning, have been exhausted, according to those in charge of the various searches. No arrests have yet been made and local police state they have no suspects in mind.

The actual loss suffered by L. G. Barkdull and C. M. Howard now stands at $450—the cost of meats and foodstuffs stolen. The market-proprietor reported the discovery of his McClaskey cash register, which contained approximately $4000 in outstanding accounts, early Monday morning. The register had been removed from the store by the robbers together with the foodstuffs. Barkdull, meat market proprietor, suffered the heaviest loss.

Howard and Barkdull have enlisted the aid of Nick Harris and detectives to carry on the investigation of the robbery. It had been thought that the burglars took the register containing the accounts in order to either destroy all items and records of sales or to remove one or more accounts in order to prevent the market owner from collecting the bills due him. But when the register, which weighs about 300 pounds, was found by Conrad Bender, meter reader for the local water company, in a field near Cedar avenue and Torrance boulevard, all of the accounts were intact.

The only clue to the robbery upon which investigators are concentrating their efforts is a man's black oxford, size seven. The shoe was found caught in a banana crate in the store. Police claim that the wearer must have slipped on a hologna sausage he had dropped and caught his foot in the crate. Unable to extricate his foot from the slats and being in a hurry, the man evidently slipped off his shoe and departed. Entry to the store was forced by smashing the front door pane.

That the robbery was finally accomplished under high speed is seen by the statements of Officers Edwards and Schumacher, who surprised the men in their pillage of the store, but failed to either stop them or get a description of them. The two officers were in a police car patrolling the district and on entering Portola avenue from the alley west, Schumacher is said to have seen a sack of sugar fall from the bandits' car which was parked near the sidewalk in the alley behind Howard's Market. As he went to investigate, Edwards, who was driving the car, drove down Portola and stopped opposite the store. One of the robbers, coming out of the market with his arms loaded with foodstuffs, saw the police officer approaching on foot, and jumping in his car, drove at a high rate of speed down the alley and escaped.

Doan Sees Two Men
Schumacher is then said to have rejoined Edwards in the car and they attempted to head off the fleeing man. At this point, L. C. Doan, who operates the vegetable department of the market and who lives above the store, happened to see two men leave the front door of the store and hurriedly walk across Torrance boulevard toward Arlington avenue, according to reports he gave police.

Howard, who retired from the active management of the grocery department of the market Monday, said that the three men evidently took the register from the store in order to search it for money at their leisure. At first he believed the robbery was devised for the purpose of either destroying all his accounts or one or two particular bills and was perpetrated by some debtor who has reason to believe immediate collection was planned by the market. J. H. Klink, purchaser of Howard's interest in the market, took possession Monday.

LOMITA GROCERY STORE ALSO ROBBED OF REGISTER
LOMITA.—The front door of the Lomita Grocery, F. P. Powers, proprietor, was reported open early Monday morning, and investigation showed that the heavy McClaskey cash register had been taken. There but all the change accounts of the firm were in it representing assets of over $2000. The register was a heavy, fire-proof register, and could not have been lifted by one man.
